

Do the privacy check

When processing personal data, WUR and its employees must comply with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). If you work with personal data and these are directly or indirectly traceable to a person, check whether you are working in a privacy-proof way!

Also important for research projects!

Are all privacy aspects of Research Data Management at WUR met?
Carefully storing, archiving and registering WUR research data is important. This allows research to be shared, verified and reused (FAIR data principles).

Also important for systems (applications and tools)!

Does the system meet the technical criteria set by the GDPR?
Criteria have been set that the system of the supplier has to meet. In such cases, this system is added to the WUR whitelist.
