

20240925

Willma “Rules of Use”:

- This AI service is currently still in beta testing. Features, functionality and performance may be incomplete, in development or subject to change without notice.;
- The AI service long-term support or maintenance is not guaranteed;
- Users may experience unexpected behavior, errors, or temporary outages;
- the AI service is not suited for critical or high-availability services. Do not rely on it for critical decisions;
- We do not use your personal or generated data. Only system usage is monitored;
- We do not share data with external parties, except if you configure to connect with ChatGPT;
- You only use the API for the agreed upon application;
- You are willing to provide feedback to the Willma team;
- We reserve the right to terminate your access to the beta service at any time, for any reason
- We are not liable for any damages or losses resulting from the use of the API, including but not limited to:
 - System failures or data losses
 - Security breaches or unauthorized access
 - Infringement of third-party rights
 - Compliance with laws or regulations
- We reserve the right to update or modify these rules at any time without notice.