

Certificate of Attendance

The Faculty of Economics and Business of the University of Amsterdam hereby states that

Eric Minyuan Lin

has successfully participated in the following masterclass of the Amsterdam Business School:

Carbon Accounting & Climate Targets

Study load	14 hours
Dates	25 & 26 November 2024
Lecturer	Luke Disney

On behalf of the course organisation,

Prof. Dr. E.E.O. Roos Lindgreen
Director Executive Programmes
Amsterdam Business School

APPENDIX

This masterclass has provided the participants with an introduction to the emerging practice of Corporate Carbon Accounting, Climate Target setting and Climate Reporting.

The masterclass covered the following subjects:

- Key scientific principles of Global Warming
- The Context & Basic principles of Corporate Carbon Accounting and the GHG Protocol
- The Context & Basic principles of Corporate Climate Targets
- The Science Based Targets Initiative approach to climate target setting
- The Context & some key principles of Corporate Climate Reporting including an introduction to the EU CSRD

After successful completion of this course, the participants:

- Understand the concept of a carbon budget, the key concepts and uses of carbon accounting of the Greenhouse Gas Protocol.
- Understand the concept of a corporate GHG inventory, how to set one up and how it relates to different organisational processes.
- Understand key concepts and challenges relating to climate data and data quality.
- Understand climate key concepts of climate targets, including decarbonisation pathways and leading climate target setting methodologies.
- Understand the basics of climate disclosures and the implications of the EU's Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive for your organisation's climate approach.