

MSc internship: Alien invasive species: price-risk relationship among exotic pet species offered for sale online

What relationship is there between the price offered and the possible effects/risks of this species for Dutch nature? And can certain species traits be linked to this? For instance: faster reproduction, easy to keep, etc. For reptiles and amphibians, a significant result was that high-risk species are offered cheaper on the marketplace than low-risk species.

Supervisors: Naomi Thunnissen, Eelke Jongejans, Frank Collas