

Essay: Risk assessment of the Empress tree (Paulownia tomentosa)

Did you enjoy the Biological Invasions course and would like to research an exotic species yourself? We're looking for an MSc student interested in finding out all there is to know about the 'Anna Paulowna' tree. Currently breeders claim that there is a sterile breed that is safe to plant as it should not be able to spread and become invasive, but let's find out what information you can find.

What: Research review using the Harmonia+ protocol

Supervisors: Naomi Thunnissen, Frank Collas, Eelke Jongejans

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Paulownia_tomentosa